TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

The Orange County Fire Chief's Association and Training Officer Division have for years been striving to improve a training delivery system throughout Orange County. Several years ago, long range planning established an Orange County Fire Services Library with the ultimate goal in mind of having television interconnect to every Fire Station in Orange County.

The City of Buena Park and its Fire Department support Communication Support Corporation to assist the Orange County Fire Chief's Association in soliciting a grant for the preparation of a Master Plan. The Master Plan will outline the information necessary to accomplish this futuristic goal.

A subcommittee of the Training Officers Division has worked diligently to move this project forward. The Fire Services, as well as many other agencies, can no longer afford to move its personnel and apparatus out of their first-in districts to provide all the necessary training in today's complicated world. This system may provide a model to produce better training, reduce liability to local agencies, and a better quality of life for the citizens we serve.

The Fire Services of Orange County have been among the most progressive throughout the United States. This television interconnect system is a system badly needed for us to meet the challenges of tomorrow.

Yours truly,

Samuel J. Winner
